J. C. SHERER, VALLEY PIONEER, TELLS EARLY SCHOOL CONDITIONS

Relates How Unknown Citizens, Under Cover of Night, Moved Into Location They Favored

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK is now being observed. To focus public attention upon the need for better schools throughout the nation, the National Americanism Commission of the American Legion and the National Education Association are conducting a campaign, in which The Glendale Evening News is participating, in every state, city and community. The week started Sunday with sermons. The press, the educators, the clubs, patriotic bodies and, in brief, numerous organizations, are carrying on the work. Below is given some early history, from City Treasurer J. C. Sherer, on school conditions in this valley. Elsewhere in The Glendale Evening News appears other interesting information. Other articles, many written by pupils in elementary grades and the union high school, will appear during the week.

Did you ever go to the school grounds, when you were a "kid" and find that the schoolhouse had been moved during the night?

Early school conditions in San Fernando valley were discussed recently by City Treasurer J. C. Sherer, who was one of the three supervisors of the old Sepulveda school district.

The first schoolhouse in the valley was a little one-room cabin in Casa Verdugo Canyon. There were few families in the entire region and few homes in the vicinity of the schoolhouse. Not far away, however, was a camp occupied by Mexicans in the employ of George Englehart, who controlled their vote. Most of them held the franchise and voting was very simple in those days. Several attempts were made at the polls by residents of the district, who were interested in educational matters, to have the schoolhouse moved nearer the center of population. Each time their suggestion was vetoed.

Move School at Night

Finally, in disgust, certain unknown citizens under the cover of darkness quietly jacked the cabin on to a dray and hauled it south on Verdugo Road to a new site near Wilson avenue. Yes, the "kids" were surprised!

The first teacher at this school whom Mr. Sherer can remember was Miss Margaret Clark. After two years she was succeeded by Miss May Stansbury, now principal of the Magnolia school in Los Angeles. As assistants she had ifrst Mrs. Arnette Baker, whose husband is connected with the Baker Iron Works, and who only remained a couple of months.

Miss Emma Sovereign, who later became Mrs. Charles Peach, took her place. Miss Minnie Baright came at the beginning of the next term.

The Sepulveda school district included Glendale, La Canada, Casa Verdugo, Tropico, and, in fact, all the territory between Garvanza and Burbank. It extended into Los Angeles to the Arroyo Seco and over to Hoover street. La Crescenta at that time was part of La Canada.

First Real Schoolhouse

The first real schoolhouse in the district was the Cerritos school. Its first teacher was George D. Howland, who is an attorney in Los Angeles. Ernest Babcock of Berkeley and Ellsworth Coleman of Oakland were also early teachers here.

The first division in the Sepulveda school district came when a section known as West Glendale separated from it. In a general way this was west of Central avenue. The first school in this district was held on the second floor of the old winery building on San Fernando and Sycamore Canyon Roads. After a year's delay, the Columbus school was built.

"The money for the schools was raised on an entirely different basis then," stated Mr. Sherer. "There was a census taken of all the children between the ages of five and seventeen. The state appropriation was based on this census. A teacher was allowed for every 70 enrolled. Then so much additional was allowed for average attendance. If any more money was needed the voters had to pass upon it in a tax levy.

They Got Money First

"The school authorities were'nt allowed to say how much they wanted or needed. They got the money first and then worked according to what they had."

When asked if this wasn't somewhat hard, Mr. Sherer laughed slightly and replied, "Well, it wasn't so hard on the taxpayers."

According to Mr. Sherer it was only necessary to ask the sovereign people for additional funds rarely. He commented on the fact that $3000 was all that was given with which to build the former Broadway school."

GIVES REASONS WHY EDUCATION WEEK IS BEING HELD

Millions Unable to Read or Write; Public in Need of Reliable Information

By JENNIE YOUNG FREEMAN
Of Union High School Faculty

During the war and since, we have become accustomed to "days" and "weeks" set apart for the carrying out of some particular business. There have been wheatless and meatless days, safety weeks, good English weeks. The commercial world has adopted the idea and instituted bread week, umbrella week, and even olive day and raisin day. But why an American Education Week? Don't we hear enough about education every week?

No! We American people with our usual optimism have gone on for years, and were in a fair way to go one for years to come in the complacent belief that we lead the world in education, and that no nation supports its schools so generously. What is the real truth?

According to the last census, there are 9,000,000 people in this country who can neither read nor write the English language. Of this total more than 5,000,000 are native-born and cannot read nor write in any language. The total number of illiterates is greater than the population of Canada; greater than the population of the entire south in the civil war. They can outvote the people of Greater New York, Chicago and Philadelphia combined. Former Secretary Franklin K. Lane said: "We present to the world the surprising spectacle of a democracy 10 per cent of whose adult population cannot read the laws by which they are governed."

Problem Is Big One

To some degree, this dangerous condition is due to the immensity of our educational problem. In a nation of 110,000,000 millions of people, of all nationalities and all kinds of heritage, we have undertaken to provide equal opportunity for education for everybody's children—Tom, Dick and Harry, Mike and Hans, Giovanni and Jose, and to turn the rank and file of them into well-informed, thinking American citizens. More than that, a fair proportion of them must be trained into leaders, capable of pointing out the road for the nation to travel, equal to the task of handling world problems with broad-minded statesmanship. Of all the great nations we have the most tremendous educational problem.

But we cannot excuse ourselves altogether on this ground. There is another, less creditable, reason for these undesirable conditions. It is a fact that our people are not really interested and well-informed about NATIONAL education. Few know very much about what even their

Grammar School Boys to Stage Big Event

Push-ball, soccer games, shuttle races and mass games are on the program for the grammar school boys' play festival at Puente Union high school field next Saturday afternoon, announces Rex C. Kelley, Y. M. C. A. secretary of the Glendale district who expects 100 boys of the Glendale grammar schools to attend the event.

The games will be in charge of Harry Rimmer, Pacific coast athlete, who was in charge of athletics in the coast training camps during the war. The games will start at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and continue until evening when a big wiener roast will be enjoyed after which a pep meeting will be held in the high school auditorium.

BIRTHDAY DINNER IS GIVEN

A birthday dinner was given at high noon yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Goodyer at their home, 216 East Park avenue, in honor of Miss Camille Stevenson of Los Angeles. The dining room was especially decorated for the occasion and a fine, large turkey was the principal object of admiration. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wiley of Pasadena; Napoleon LeBlanc, 1119 South Glendale avenue, and John M. Lange, 129 South Central avenue.

ART IS MAN'S EXPRESSION OF JOY IN HIS WORK

"YOU who understand the influence of beauty in living are masters of your environment and build your character upon attractive homes, good furniture, gardens, clothes and utensils. Those who neglect these things pay for their ignorance in being mastered by ugly surroundings which breed unhappiness and inefficiency. You are building the United States of a hundred years hence."—Department of Interior, Bureau of Education.

GREAT PARADE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN THIS AFTERNOON

American Education Week to Open With Big Display; Hundreds to Appear

A Twentieth Century version of the Children's Crusade will take place this afternoon when a parade of Glendale school children with banners flying and throats cheering will call attention to the opening day of American Education Week.

Schools are being closed at noon today in honor of the occasion.

On account of the number of children in the local school system and the great number of automobiles which would be necessary to transport them in all, the general committee was obliged to abandon with regret the idea of having them all in the parade.

It was the original intention of the parade to give the citizens of this community some idea of the number of children attending school here and therefore a better conception of the importance of National Education Week.

Automobiles Required

The parade this afternoon will be confined to pupils at Intermediate school, the seventh and eighth grades at Cerritos school and the Glendale Union High school. There are 1800 young people under these classifications and George C. Lockwood, marshal of the day, estimated that the parade would require about an hour and a half to pass, depending somewhat upon traffic.

Three hundred automobiles will be needed and this morning Mr. Lockwood stated that seventy-five more machines were still needed. Parents and members of the various Parent-Teachers' associations have

Tuesday Afternoon Club to Hold Open Forum

The regular meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson is president, and which will be held tomorrow afternoon at Masonic Temple, will be an open forum meeting to which the general public is invited. At that time the subject under discussion will be "Our County Institutions." The speakers will include W. B. Traeger, county sheriff; J. B. Bean, county board of supervisors, and W. O. Martin, superintendent of the County Hospital.

Mr. Bean has just returned from a trip throughout the east, during which he investigated county conditions and institutions in other states. He will tell of some of the newest ideas and his opinions of same. Mr. Martin, superintendent of the County Hospital, is also superintendent of county charities. Mr. Traeger, county sheriff, is past state president of the Native Sons of the Golden West and is prominent in many lines of civic activity. He has been cooperating with the city and county plan to eliminate some of the unfortunate conditions in the county jail.

Credit Association to Start Work Immediately

Frank H. Pilling, newly-elected secretary of the Merchants' Credit association, met for the first time this morning with the executive committee and went into the details of organization. C. E. Neale presided and it was ordered that fixtures be bought for offices to be established in the Chamber of Commerce building opposite The Glendale Evening News office.

It is expected that the association will be in active operation by the end of this week, Mr. Pilling having had twenty years' experience in similar activity. He resigned his post as secretary of the Everett, Wash., Merchants' association last month, but this was rejected and instead he was given a year's leave of absence to come to Glendale. He has brought his wife and daughter with him.

At the last meeting of the Everett organization the president presented Mr. Pilling, with a solid gold Howard watch, a beautiful and costly timepiece, of which he feels justly proud. It represents 12 years of conscientious effort in behalf of the merchants there.

Salt Lake's General Manager Visits Here

W. H. Comstock, general manager of the Salt Lake railroad branch of the Union Pacific system, accompanied by Messrs. T. P. Cullen, superintendent; C. F. Miller, division engineer, and A. McGuire, were visitors in Glendale this morning.

They were greeted by City Manager W. H. Reeves and Councilman C. E. Kimlin and Councilman S. A. Davis. In a few minutes' time they were convinced that Glendale held great business possibilities for their line and while Mr. Comstock was non-committal, he indicated that recommendations for improvements would be passed to Vice President Calvin at once.

The Glendale Avenue Improvement Association seeks the electrolization of the branch Salt Lake line coming in from Los Angeles.

MONEY WANTED AT ONCE TO FINANCE GLENDALE FLOAT

Make Out Check Payable to James M. Rhoades, Then Mail to C. of C.

WHAT WILL YOU GIVE?

Glendale Groceteria	$25
James M. Rhoades	5
Dr. R. V. Hogue	3
Gil A. Cowan	1
Paul Vissman	1

That's a starter, folks, for the Glendale float in the Tournament of Roses. More of the donations like that of the Glendale groceteria are needed. A hundred ten dollar checks would be appreciated by the committee in charge.

The exact sum needed will not be revealed, but it is a big amount and the people here should get behind the proposition with whole-hearted support. Last year The Glendale Evening News put over this proposition. Now the Chamber of Commerce has taken the lead.

Write Out Your Check!

Make your checks payable to James M. Rhoades, treasurer, float fund. Or, better yet, take the cash to the Chamber headquarters.

L. W. Chobe, who is designing the float this year, declares that if the people get behind the movement and furnish the money for flowers he is confident Glendale will win first prize in its class for the third time.

Everybody can afford to give $1; many will give $10; who will match J. Herbert Smith's $25 gift? asks Mr. Rhoades.

SAFETY WEEK; BE CAREFUL

This is safety first week. No accidents are desired by traffic officers, railroad companies and motorists in general. Jaywalking and other causes for pedestrians' injuries are to be guarded against, and police judges will severely penalize those who persist in breaking traffic rules. "I am careful, are you?" is the slogan for everyone to keep in mind this week.

Today's World News In Brief

(By International News Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Premier Lloyd George called on King George today and is understood to have reported an apparent breaking up of the Irish peace conference.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The strike of packing house workers called by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, began this morning in the packing plants of Chicago and other cities throughout the country.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—Latest advices from Washington led to the opinion in official circles today that the Anglo-Japanese alliance will be scrapped and that arrangements will be made for arbitration in the event of any future disagreement in the Pacific.

TOKYO, Dec. 5.—The question of Japan's acceptance of the 5-5-3 naval program at the Washington conference is before the advisory council, according to the Yamato, organ of the militarists, which is conducting a campaign of indignation against its acceptance.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—A new bonus bill was placed before congress today when Representative Mott, republican, of New York, introduced a measure providing for adjusted compensation for ex-service men to be raised by means of a general sales tax. The bill proposed five options, as follows: Adjusted service pay, insurance, vocational training, farms or homes, or land settlement aid.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 5.—One of the greatest wreck disasters in the history of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad occurred today when two passenger trains crashed together head-on at a curve near Bryn Athyn. Reports from the scene of the wreck placed the dead as high as twenty-five. Railway terminal officers here had not compiled any statement of the number of dead at 1 p. m.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—With a terrific and spectacular fire reported to be raging beyond control in the Malibu mountains, and threatening to sweep through the Calabasas section in the upper section of the San Fernando valley, near here, county officials today were rushing 300 fire fighters to the scene. Latest advices said the flames had destroyed buildings on a number of ranches. The Rindge homestead on a great estate known as Malibu ranch, was said to be threatened by flames which had come inland ten miles from the sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle today faced the great bar of public opinion. A jury of seven men and five women listened sixteen days to the evidence for and against him in his manslaughter trial for the death of Virginia Rappe and failed to reach an agreement. Facts and figures on the jury: Out forty-four hours; deliberated fifteen hours; took twenty-two paper ballots; stood finally ten to two for acquittal; locked up seventeen days; heard twelve days of testimony and argument; thirteen exhibits in evidence; record of trial contains approximately 350,000 words; sworn November 18; discharged December 4.

BABE RUTH BARRED FROM BASEBALL TILL MAY

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Babe Ruth, home run king of the New York Yanks; Bob Meusel, hard hitting outfielder, and Bill Piercey, recruit pitcher, will not be permitted to play baseball again until May 20, 1922, Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner, ruled today.

In addition the three players will forfeit all claims to their share of the world's series money of 1921.

The punishment is meted out to them for participating in exhibition games after the last world series in violation of a rule of the national commission.

After May 20, the players may, within ten days, apply for reinstatement in organized baseball.

C. W. ANGIER HOME AT LA CRESCENTA WIND WRECKED

Debris Falls on Family But None Injured; Residence Almost Demolished

Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Richardson and daughter, Reba, of 1856 South Brand boulevard, and Miss Carol Duncan, motored to La Crescenta Sunday afternoon with the intention of calling on Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Angier, and were both surprised and shocked to find the house in ruins as a result of the storm Friday night. They found their friends at the home of Will Wise, who had given them shelter as soon as their plight became known.

The family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Angier and three little daughters, the eldest of which is 10, are in the habit of sleeping in a tent house that adjoined the home. But the wind being so severe, they had all remained in the house and were sleeping in the living room.

The wind lifted the roof of this room and dropped it into the room,

ALBERT D. PEARCE MAKES MOST IMPRESSIVE TALK AT MEMORIAL

About 1000 Elks and Their Friends Meet in Local Theatre to Pay Tribute to Departed Members

"HE LEFT GOOD DEEDS before him. He kept faith. We are content." Such were the closing words of the stirring address made by Albert D. Pearce, past exalted ruler of the Glendale Elks' Lodge No. 1289, yesterday afternoon at the annual Memorial day services of the local club when approximately 1000 members of the order and their friends assembled at the Glendale theatre as an exemplification of their cherished memory of those who "have passed from this earth." With a spirit of reverence and sacredness that was entirely befitting the solemn occasion, the ceremonies enacted yesterday easily surpassed in veneration any similar services that have ever been conducted by the local lodge.

ALBERT D. PEARCE

Who Delivered a Remarkably Impressive Address at the Memorial Services Held by the Local Lodge of Elks in the Glendale Theatre Yesterday Afternoon.

The theatre, which was donated for the occasion by William A. Howe, was appropriately decorated and illuminated for the staging of the awe-inspiring and impressive memory rites. The stage, which was occupied by the officers of the club and the speaker of the day, was beautified by the addition of numerous bouquets of pure white roses intermingled with sprinklings of green ferns. Besides the regular lighting effects which are used in the daily performances of the theatre the stage was further adapted for the event by being illuminated with the soft and fervent glow from two perfectly blending crimson and purple sidelights and an overhead "fixed star."

Exalted Ruler Alfred F. Priest opened the ceremonies with a brief talk, telling of the nature and history of the Elks' Memorial Day program, part of which was as follows:

"The first Sunday in December of each year, is dedicated as a day on which shall be commemorated by every lodge of Elks in sacred session the memories of departed brothers, and shall be known as "Elks' Memorial Day."

Services Impressive

The exalted ruler completed his introductory speech by conducting an instructive dialogue between Esquire Gerald Dockeray and himself, after which Chaplain James F. McBryde led the audience in prayer. E. C. Heintz and Edwin J. Albright then san "Come Unto Him All Ye Who Weep," after which the audience was favored with a solo by Tenie Sheehan, entitled "Oh Divine Redeemer."

The chair officers of Glendale lodge then conducted the formal ceremony of offering flowers on the altar of the order, each of the officers responding to the request of the exalted ruler by offering different flowers as emblems of the principles of the Elks' lodge. The office of esteemed lecturing knight was taken by Past Exalted Ruler Cameron D. Thom in the absence of Earl Patterson, who is in the east.

The most impressive feature of the afternoon's services then took place when Secretary Willis M. Kimball was instructed to call the roll of the

PRESIDENT SUBMITS BUDGET ESTIMATE FOR YEAR 1923

Figures Submitted Show Big Cut Over 1921; Congress Receives Facts, Figures

By H. K. REYNOLDS
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—President Harding today submitted to congress a definite and comprehensive estimate of the financial requirements of the federal government for the next fiscal year.

The national budget of 1923—the first in the history of the United States—calls for appropriations aggregating $3,505,754,727. This is a reduction of $462,167.659 under the estimated expenditures of 1922, and $2,032,285,962.30 less than the sum expendeo by the government in 1921.

In addition to laying before congress the itemized list of estimated expenditures and the report of Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the director of the budget, the president recommended legislation in connection with the 1922 navy appropriation bill, with a view to the "eventual automatic release of $100,000,000 now held in the naval supply account of the navy department.

Estimated Appropriations

This transfer of funds was suggested to the president by General Dawes for the purpose of providing a portion of the funds necessary to strike a balance between receipts and expenditures for 1923. In the budget as submitted to congress, the estimated expenditures for 1922, exceed the receipts by approximately $150,000,000.

Estimated appropriations for 1923, submitted to congress today by the president were as follows:

Legislative, $16,493,845.95, as compared with $17,196,203.93 for 1922; executive office, $288,880, as

TAXES DELINQUENT TODAY

The first installment of the 1921-1922 taxes will become delinquent at 6 o'clock tonight. After that hour a penalty of 15 per cent will be added to all first installments not paid. If you owe taxes, there may be time yet today to each the collector's office in the Hall of Records, Los Angeles.

Friend W. Richardson, State Treasurer, Here

Friend W. Richardson, state treasurer, who is a candidate for governor, was a visitor in Glendale this morning and a caller on A. T. Cowan, publisher of The Glendale Evening News. For years State Treasurer Richardson was a publisher of a newspaper at San Bernardino, later being publisher of a paper at Berkeley. He has been head of the state newspaper association for many terms.

Mr. Richardson stated that Glendale's remarkable building record and increase in population is being commented upon in many sections of the state. After inspecting The Glendale Evening News plant he declared it one of the finest he has ever visited and one that would be a credit to a city several times the size of Glendale.

Mr. Richardson's candidacy for governor is being furthered by his many friends throughout the state and he expresses himself as being very well satisfied with the campaign as it now presents itself.

WILL ROGERS FILM IS FEATURE SHOWING FOR LAST TIME

'Doubling for Romeo' Heads Program; Delightful Parody Is Pleasing to Crowds

"Doubling for Romeo," the new Goldwyn picture, starring Will Rogers, which will be seen for the last times today at the Glendale Theatre, is a delightful parody of Shakespeare. The hero tries to emulate the love-makiing of Romeo, but finds that his cowboy training is too great a handicap. Will Rogers, as the bashful cowboy lover, gives the best performance of his screen career.

The titles, which were written by Will Rogers himself, are funny enough to make up an entire vaudeville act alone. They bring Shakespeare down to date through the eyes of a love-sick cowboy. But Rogers isn't the only comic spirit in the story. William Orlamund as the "movie" director of the studio to which the cowboy turns for instruction in love-makiing, gives a perfect travesty of the popular idea of a director. "Lefty" Flynn has several delightful comic scenes with Will Rogers; and Sylvia Breamer, one of the most beautiful girls on the screen, is the heroine with a taste for "movie" lovers.

"Scandal," a Sunshine comedy, has many a laugh while the latest Pathe news, timely Topics and Urban Movie Chats fill out the bill.

Hi-Y Groups Plan to Observe Education Week

There will be a meeting of the different Hi-Y groups tonight at the First Methodist church for the purpose of conducting the regular business of the organizations and to observe educational week. The individual groups will meet at 7:30 and at 8 o'clock a combined meeting will be held of all the groups. The slogan "Stick to School," will be emphasized by several talks.

Plans will also be made at this meeting for the reception of Harry Rimmer. Pacific coast athlete who arrives here Thursday to address the high school students during assembly hour and to deliver the address of the evening at a banquet given by the Hi-Y groups at the Baptist church Thursday night.

Method Is Sacred

Dawes scored the custom of making "deficiency" appropriations, declaring that the "method of appropriating money heretofore followed has resulted in a condition of things under which it is impossible for either the executive, congress or secretary of the treasury to have before them a true picture of the fiscal condition of the government at any particular time."

"Although congress has by stringent penal law prohibited the creation of deficiencies and clearly indicated that its annual appropriations were intended to limit the amount to be expended for such period, yet millions of dollars have been annually spent by the departments above the estimates submitted at the beginning of the fiscal year, and in recent years, due to the great sums appropriated in connection with the war, hundreds of millions of dollars have been so expended by the departments, a course made possible, by deficiency and supplemental appropriations, the existence of revolving funds and unexpended balances."

Dawes expressed confidence that the estimate of expenditures for 1923, upon which the budget is based, "will not" be increased except through appropriations initiated by congress or by the executive as a result of emergency or of unforeseen conditions arising after the preparation of the budget.

Nazimova Picture Is Very Modern 'Camille'

Nazimova's modern interpretation of "Camille" for Metro, which will be shown at the T. D. & L. theatre tomorrow and Wednesday and Thursday, is the latest version of this famous story by Alexander Dumas, the younger, with which many noted actresses have thrilled audiences in this country.

Sarah Bernhardt gave the French version in this country with tremendous success, while Eleanora Duse found her Italian presentation received with much popularity. Madame Modjeska and Clara Morris both had it as one of the leading items of their repertoires during their stage appearances here.

Sunday Night Concerts at Glendale Enjoyable

An innovation introduced at the Glendale Theatre last night which proved pleasing was a vocal obligato to one of Paul Carson's organ numbers by Harry Gerard, the singing organist, whose voice wafted through the house from the echo organ loft. Only a singer of voluminous notes could have accompliished the feat, but Mr. Gerard was equal to the occasion. Miss Madge Schalk also pleased with dramatic soprano numbers. The Sunday night concerts are proving a popular drawing card at the Glendale.

'BITS OF LIFE' IS BIG NOVELTY HIT T. D. & L. BILL

Neilan's Latest Innovation Is Decidedly Refreshing and Very Entertaining

Just about the time that some producers are bemoaning the lack of suitable screen ideas, along comes Marshall Neilan and puts over a new thought that well belongs in the home-run class. A hit is Neilan's latest cinema, innovation, "Bits of Life," the First National attraction which began an engagement at the T. D. L. Theatre last night.

And the result is decidedly refreshing and wonderfully entertaining as well as novel.

The stories which Neilan has pieced together in masterly fashion are Thomas McMorrow's "The Bad Samaritan," Walter Trumbull's "The Man Who Heard Everything," Hugh Wiley's "Hop" and Neilan's own original story, "The Strange Adventure." The production is splendidly enacted by an excellent cast It will be shown tonight for the last times.

Preview Arranged

In addition to "Bits of Life," Ralph Allan, manager of the T. D. & L. Theatre, has arranged for previewing the Fini's Fox production, "God's Law and Man's," Allan states this picture is an exceptional one, being unusual in dramatic treatment, plot and action; that it is a different sort from the usual picture. Special music will be rendered by Mr. Olsene, the new organist who made so favorable an impression yesterday.

Many Installations in Water, Light, Service

Attention was called this morning by City Manager W. H. Reeves to the installation of 138 water meters and 145 light meters during the month of November.

"Without any extra help!" exclaimed Mayor Spencer Robinson who was in the office at the time.

"While we may have a large number of building permits," stated Mr. Reeves, "that doesn't mean that the rate will continue, but these additional installations will continue to furnish permanent revenue to the city."

'Mosaic Covenant' Is Bible Conference Topic

"The Mosaic Covenant" will be the subject tonight at the Presbyterian Bible conference of Dr. David R. Breed. A vocal selection will be sung by Mrs. Robert J. Baird of Van Nuys. The program will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

A large audience was present at yesterday's morning service, including delegations from the churches cooperating in the conference. Still larger numbers are expected tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday night. The sessions are open to the general public and an especial welcome has been extended to all residents of Glendale.

Dynamos Club's Paper Is Being Circulated

"The Dynamos," a monthly six page paper published by the Presbyterian Dynamos Club, has made its first appearance and is being distributed at the homes of the city. It is edited by Earl P. Hammond, 1236 East Harvard street, and is devoted to the welfare of young men and the interest of the Dynamos Club. He stated this morning that its publication had been made possible through the support of local merchants whom he wished to thank.

C. W. Angier Home at La Crescenta Is Wrecked by Wind

and the family had a narrow escape from being crushed by the debris. They succeeded in extricating themselves, and taking some mattresses out of doors, finished the night in the open.

Strange to say, the tent house was undisturbed. The garage was blown over, and the automobile turned over also, by the wind, but suffered little damage and was in use Sunday.

House Total Wreck

The house is completely demolished, with the exception of part of the kitchen and the floor and foundation. Mr .Angier is an instructor of manual training at Virgil Intermediate school in Los Angeles.

The Angiers were formerly residents of Glendale, living at 1011 South Columbus avenue. Both were active workers in the Tropico Presbyterian church, Mr. Angier being superintendent of the Sunday school. Two years ago they built this new home on Ramsdale avenue, La Crescenta, and were pioneers in settling that section, being instrumental in having the streets opened and other improvements made. They have made no definite plans as yet regarding rebuilding.

Mrs. Pearl Guthrie Is Hostess Behalf Chapter

The regular all-day meeting of Chapter BA, P. E. O., was held Friday, December 2, at the home of Mrs. Pearl Guthrie, 318 West Patterson avenue, with Mrs. Beryl Cross and Mrs. Bertha Dodds as assisting hostesses. The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Madeline Kelley. Reports of officers and committees were made at that time. After the report of Mrs. Edith Arnold, chairman of philanthropy, the chapter decided to do some Christmas charity work for the poor children of Glendale.

A delicious luncheon was served at noon, after which a short program was given, including vocal numbers by a quartet consisting of Mrs. Mary Cooper, Mrs. Florence Wintersgill, Mrs. Edith Arnold and Mrs. Kate Williams. An exchange of ideas on home economics and recipes was an interesting feature of the afternoon. The next meeting of the chapter will be held December 16 at the home of Mrs. Edith Arnold, 211 East Lomita avenue. This will be in the form of a "children's party" for the children of chapter members. There will be a Christmas tree, and each child is expected to bring a Christmas gift for the poor children of Glendale and vicinity.

There were about twenty present at Friday's meeting, the guests being Mrs. C. M. Calderwood, Mrs. Orville Clark and Mrs. Graham of Chapter E, Monmouth, Ill.

Mrs. A. M. Shaley and daughter, Miss Marion Shaley of 328 East Dryden street attended the Philharmonic concert in Los Angeles Saturday night.

Thomas Hambacher, 202 North Orange street, recently discontinued business at 117½ West Broadway, where he conducted the Pacific Paint & Supply store.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Stamps of 436 West Colorado street entertained as their guests at dinner Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Fullenwider and son, Francis, of Kingsley Drive, Los Angeles.

Mrs. D. T. Keim of 342 West California avenue returned the latter part of last week from La Verne, where she has been visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. D. McClellan, since the Thanksgiviing holidays.

Mrs. W. O. Huse of 335 Mira Loma avenue entertained with a luncheon party recently. Her guests included Mrs. H. E. Cross, Mrs. M. L. Russell and Mrs. W. N. Stamps of Glendale and relatives from Triumfo and Los Angeles.

Mrs. H. V. Brown and daughter, Agnes Brown of 144 North Orange street, and Roy Cunningham played several piano, violin and saxophone selections Friday night at the installation of officers of Hollenbeck chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Knox are now at their home at 435 South Central avenue for the winter, after having spent the summer on their ranch at Tujunga. Mr. Knox was honored by being elected vice-president of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, which has a membership of about 400.

Mrs. Hartley Shaw and mother, Mrs. H. S. West of 212 West Park avenue, have returned from Claremont, where they spent several days visiting Mrs. Shaw's daughters, Dorothy and Evelyn Shaw, who attend Pomona college. They were accompanied on the return trip by Mrs. Shaw's father, H. S. West, who has been spending some time in Claremont.

"I guess we had the biggest crowd that has ever been to a sale in Glendale," remarked I. A. Blodgett of Fisher's Variety store, 212 East Broadway, commenting upon the success of the Triangle Aluminum Sale. "It looked to me like there must have been four or five hundred people. I think I am conservative when I mention that number. No, I didn't have time to count 'em."

Hand-painted carpet sweepers are now on display at 122 West Broadway in the Woman's Exchange. Yes, they are for little girls. Miss Mary Havey says they will inspire their owners with ideas of both industry and thrift. She called attention to the arrival of the first all-bisque dolls to reach Glendale from Europe for some time. These are quite small, but perfectly made with hair and "sleeping eyes." They are clothed in crocheted ballet skirts and knit tam-o'shanters

Locals and Personals

The architectural office of H. D. Charlton, 113 East Broadway, is preparing plans for a twenty-room flat in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Davis of 601 North Louise street entertained at dinner Friday night Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Marshall of Los Angeles.

Frank Proctor returned to his home, 1135 East Wilson avenue, this morning after a slight operation yesterday at the Glendale Research Hospital.

The Broadway Shade shop is a new enterprise at 117½ West Broadway, under the direction of A. C. Sumner. Window shades will be manufactured.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farnham and daughter, Josephine, of 316 North Louise were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr .and Mrs. Warren Roberts of 617 East Elk avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby of 224 North Louise street, Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Lusby and son, Donald, were the Sunday dinner guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Lusby of San Fernando.

The members of the parliamentary law section of the Tuesday Afternoon club of which Mrs. H. H. Greenwalt is curator, will meet for rehearsal tomorrow, December 6, at 12 o'clock noon at Masonic temple.

Miss Marjorie Bailey, harpist, and Miss Genevieve Mulligan and Miss Julia Robinson, violinists, are rehearsing several selections to be given at the annual high school variety show December 15 and 16.

Miss Ethel Read, daughter of W. N. Read of 701 North Central avenue, sang in concert Thursday night at the Gamut club, Los Angeles. She presented "The Song of India" in costume. Miss Read is a pupil of Carl Bronson.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Doggett and family of 1647 South Gardena avenue motored to Los Angeles Sunday and were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brantley. They also visited Exposition Park and heard Marshal Foch's address.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lee of 213 North Isabel street entertained at dinner Friday in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Frank C. Weller. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Weller, C. B. Miltenberger and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lee.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Eames of 633½ North Orange street were dinner guests yesterday of Dr. E. F. Tholen and Miss Lucille Tholen of 819 South Brand boulevard at the Wilshire Country club. The party first attended the Marshal Foch parade in Los Angeles.

Fire destroyed the home of Edwin Nance, 335 West Park avenue, Eagle Rock last night, providing a most spectacular blaze for residents of eastern Glendale. The damage is estimated at $4000. Quite a number of late motorists drove over to the neighbor city to watch the fire fighters in action.

Mrs. C. R. Lusby of 339 North Louise street was hostess Saturday evening at a dinner party given in honor of Mrs. Cecil Forbes of North Dakota, formerly Miss Katherine Lennox of Glendale. Those present included Mrs. Cecil Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison, Miss Inez Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lennox, and Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Lusby.

The regular meeting of the West Glendale Reading club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. M. Young, 412 West Milford street. Miscellaneous poetry was read and discussed. At the next meeting, which will be Friday, December 9, and the last until after the Christmas holidays, a special Christmas program will be given.

Qua Balthazar, brother of J. Balthazar, patrolman on the local police force, has been appointed day desk sergeant by Chief A. O. Martin. Qua served with Company D of the 214th engineers during the war and more recently has been Spanish translator for a United States commissioner. He is experienced in legal matters, being a student in the U. S. C. college of law night school.

J. E. Walker, jeweler, 116 East Broadway, has not only been selling 10 cent bank notes for 25 cents, but he has been getting away with it, too. However, the date on them is 1867. They were issued by the United States government and are legal tender. Upon them is engraved a photograph of the secretary of the treasury in 1849. He looks "hard boiled," but maybe that was on account of the gold strike.

Mrs. M. P. Harrison and Mrs. H. M. Lennox entertained at luncheon Friday noon at the home of the former on North Maryland avenue in honor of Mrs. Cecil Forbes of North Dakota, formerly Miss Katherine Lennox. Those present included Mrs. Cecil Forbes, Mrs. H. A. Wilson, Mrs. C. R. Lusby, Mrs. H. M. Salisbury of Alhambra. Mrs. Ed M. Lee, Mrs. Frank C. Weller, Mrs. M. P. Harrison and Mrs. H. M. Lennox.

Miss Carrie Cornwell of 135 North Kenwood street was hostess Saturday afternoon to the members of the XVI club. The afternoon was spent in needlework, after which a delicious two-course luncheon was served. The guests included Miss Lillian Shropshire, Mrs. Fay Story, Mrs. Albert Cornwell, Mrs. Harry Lynch, Miss Fredonia Borthick, Miss Cora Jones, Mrs. Harriet Patterson, Miss Frances Jackson, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. Alice McFadden, Miss Blanche Davenport and Miss Mae Cornwell.

Locals and Personals

Dr. David R. Breed Gives Address at Bible Conference

"How is the prevailing ignorance of the Bible to be explained?" inquired Dr. David R. Breed in the opening address yesterday morning at the Presbyterian Bible conference on "The Bible as a Whole."

"The Bible is a comprehensive unit," declared Dr. Breed. It is the moral history of mankind from creation to consummation. It is not scientific history but moral and spiritual. There never should have been any conflict between it and science.

"Ie begins and ends with the tree of life: the whole Bible lies between. At the start there was a holy race; at the end a ransomed race. Between those two great termini are seven great events: The creation of man, his fall, the giving of the law, the coming of Christ, the advent of the holy spirit, "the holy Jerusalem" and the final triumph."

Gordon Bevans' Salute Is Returned by Foch

And it came to pass that Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies, returned the salute of Gordon Bevans, Glendale high school boy scout.

Last night Gordon was relating to his friends how he had climbed over a fence and witnessed the cornerstone laying ceremony in Pasadena after which Marshal Foch had passed him and returned his salute with a smile.

JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB MEETS

The Junior Auxiliary of the Glendale Music club, of which Miss Veda Knapp is president, met Saturday night at the home of Miss Dorothy Watson, 526 North Central avenue. A French program was given, including the following numbers: Violin duet, "The Brook" (Boisdefre) and "Romance in A" (Lieurance) by Genevieve Mulligan and Julia Robinson; "trio, "The Swan" (Saint Saens) by Dorothy Watson and Vanona Kaiser, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Spencer Robinson; Violin solo, selection, by Glenn Hurd; vocal solo, "Elegie" (Massenet) by Miss Dorothy Peart; piano solo, "Flatterer" (Chaminade) Miss Margaret West. At the close of the evening games were played and refreshments served. Plans are being formulated for a big Christmas party to be held by the auxiliary December 30.

GIFT FROM MARSHAL FOCH

While it was impossible for Marshal Foch to be in Glendale in person yesterday, he was here in spirit. A beautiful bouquet presented him at the Ambassador hotel yesterday afternoon was consigned to the wounded war veterans at Thornycroft sanitarium in care of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Harris of this city.

The Secret of Babe Ruth's Success

—Scientific tests prove that the success of the greatest baseball batter of all times is due to his supernormal eye. "Babe's" eyes are quicker than those of the average man by 12 per cent; only one person in five hundred has such steady nerves. Ruth's success clearly demonstrates the advantages of good vision—of steady nerves.

—Where Ruth's eyes are above normal, the eyes of most people—fully 70 per cent—are below normal, and THEY DON'T KNOW IT! An eye examination may prove the turning point in YOUR career.

—Our specialty is the thorough examination of eyes—and we will frankly tell you if you need glasses or not. Be SURE that you are not HANDICAPPED by defective vision. Appointments made evenings or Sundays by request.

—Feel free to call on us for any minor adjustment of your glasses. We'll be glad to serve you.

GEORGE U. MOYSE WRITES ABOUT UNION HIGH SCHOOL—THEN AND NOW

Head of Institution Gives Interesting Details of Formation, Expansion and Needs of District

George U. Moyse, principal of the Glendale Union High School, has written, as a part of the program for the observance of American Education Week in Glendale, a history of the high school district. Twenty-eight students attended high school the first year. There is now an enrollment of 1225, all since 1901. The history is very interesting. Here it is:

By GEORGE U. MOYSE
Principal Glendale Union High School

IN 1900 THIS PART of San Fernando Valley was open country with scattered ranch houses set in orchards of deciduous and citrus fruit trees. Glendale was a small village centered about the one general merchandise store and post office at the corner of the present streets, Glendale avenue and Wilson avenue. The imposing building of the town was the hotel, the building now occupied by the Sanitarium. This was vacant and in charge of a care taker.

Communication with Los Angeles was by horse traffic or by the two daily trains of the Los Angeles Terminal railway, now the Salt Lake. Any student who went to high school had to attend Los Angeles' one high school, the red brick building on North Hill, now known as the Central Intermediate High.

Only a very few boys and girls could go to high school under these conditions. The fathers and mothers who desired the best things for their children began to talk of the formation of a union high school district. This district was formed in 1901. In addition to Glendale, West Glendale, and Tropico districts, it originally included all of Burbank Grammar school district to the northwest, all of Washington Park district on lower San Fernando Road and Ivanhoe district to the present limits of Edendale on the south. It reached to Pasadena city limits on the east and extended to the mountains north of La Crescenta on the north. From this broad expanse of territory there were only twenty-eight students to attend high school the first year.

The old hotel building was vacant. It had been recently used for St. Hilda's School for Girls, an Episcopal school, so the people naturally thought of this building for their high school. It was secured for temporary quarters and for the first year and a half the few students in attendance had the run of the roomy building.

Raise Money for Site

A site for the high school building was furnished Glendale through funds raised by popular subscription. It was deemed wise to place the school well away from the center of town, which was then Glendale avenue and Wilson avenue. The site was chosen in an open field with no houses within the distance of two blocks. It occupied a little more than the north half of the block now bounded by Broadway, Maryland, Harvard and Brand. When the corner stone for the building was laid in August, 1902, the event was made the occasion for a big country jollification. The friends of the new school movement came from all directions. There were enthusiastic speeches praising the public interest in education, and the ladies served a very substantial lunch. The bond issue at this time was for $10,000, and the contract price of the two-story and basement frame structure was $8,800. The most optimistic of the patrons of the school felt that a generous provision had been made for the school for a long term of years and the conservative element felt that money had been used with unnecessary abandon in providing so large a site and building.

When the Pacific Electric was built into Glendale, a sixty-foot strip along the west side and a generous curve on the northwest corner of the grounds were given for Brand boulevard and the right of way on Brand for the railway and its curve on the corner where the present First National bank building stands. This materially decreased the size of the grounds. Space remained for a basketball and a tennis court and a long line of sheds for the horses driven by those who came in from Burbank, Ivanhoe, and La Crescenta.

Campaign Is Lively

With the coming of the electric railway, conditions changed rapidly. New houses were built and a large lumber yard was established across Maryland to the east of the school. By September, 1907, the building was over crowded with students. A larger site was needed. The usual difference of opinion in regard to the location of the new site arose. East was pitted against West. Brand boulevard and Glendale avenue were the respective limits beyond which the site must not go. As a compromise it was agreed that the new location should be the block bounded by the present streets, Harvard, Louise, Colorado and Maryland avenue.

A district election was necessary in order to empower the trustees to sell the old site and buy the new. After a lively campaign, the election was held on April 18, 1908. The trustees then found themselves in the embarrassing position of being required by popular vote to buy the new site before they knew whether the necessary bonds would be voted. The bond issue of $60,000 for the new site and building was voted at an election held ten days later.

Commencement exercises in June, 1908, were held outdoors on the old grounds. The program was given from a platform built on the tennis court. In June, 1909, the new building was not yet finished but since the floors were laid the 1909 class had the distinction of graduating in the new building.

When the new plant was occupied in September, 1909, the optimists and the conservatives said the same things that were said when the original building was first occupied. The developments of a few years showed them both wrong again. An overcrowded school necessitated an election for $100,000 in bonds in August, 1913. With these funds the frontage on the west side of Maryland between Harvard and Colorado was purchased. Maryland, as it ran through the grounds, was then closed. Two new brick buildings, companions to the one erected in 1909, were constructed and first occupied in January, 1915.

Problem is Difficult

The relief these afforded was of short duration. The attractiveness of this foothill residential section brought so many new families to the district that again the school could not accommodate properly all its students. The plan to build other permanent buildings on this site failed, and in August, 1920, $60,000 was voted for temporary improvement, and ten bungalow class rooms and a girls' gymnasium were completed in September of this year. They are all in use to their limit at the present time.

The incoming mid-year class will raise the number of students beyond the normal maximum capacity of the buildings. Not a bit of relief in the way of additional class rooms is in sight for September, 1922. The problem of giving the students of the district the opportunities for instruction and laboratory and shop practice that rightfully are theirs is an extremely difficult one.

Last year the rate of increase in average attendance over that of the previous year was 23 per cent. This year we have to date an enrollment of 1225 students, an increase of about 40 per cent over last year. The ten new class rooms and nine additional teachers which were added are not able to do justice to this phenomenal growth. History has truly repeated itself in the successive efforts made to adequately provide sufficiently large sites and commodious buildings for this school and in the subsequent failure to accomplish this because of the unusual growth of our district.

Provision Necessary

A thoughtful consideration of the present situation shows that it is not a time for halfway meausres. Provision for the future needs of the school must be made in a large way. Another site and another large school plant built to accommodate at least 2000 students is the only solution that can justly be considered.

Judging from previous experiences, it will take one and a half to two years to carry this plan through and have the new building ready for use. In the meantime we have the problem of providing proper educational facilities for the number of students who will enter in September, 1922, and September, 1923, in a plant already greatly overcrowded and with no room for expansion.

The present high school situation must challenge the most thoughtful and generous consideration of all friends of children and of education. Our high school is one of the important high schools of the state not only in size but in the scope of its work, and the high standards of scholarship maintained.

Rent profiteers are forbidden to charge higher rents in Buenos Aires than those in force before January 1, 1920. President Irigoyen recently signed and promulgated a new law to that effect.

TIES CLEANED FREE

—Last week we cleaned Ladies' Gloves free—and we probably cleaned half the gloves in Glendale —so now, let's give the men a chance.

—A man's tie is the finishing touch to his attire—it makes or mars his appearance. Many men know this and replace their soiled ties with new ones—this expense is unnecessary, because we will send your wrinkled, worn ties home to you as fresh and bright as when they were new, and they will tie just as many times without showing wear.

HERE'S HOW

We will clean, absolutely free, TWO ties with all dry cleaning or dye work received this week—either ladies' or men's garments.

LADIES

—Look through your wardrobe—surely you will find a coat, suit, skirt or dainty waist that will give you much more satisfaction if you know it is spotless—and—two bright clean ties will be quite a pleasant surprise for 'him.' No charge for the ties—just call Glendale

626W

MEN

—Stick a couple of your favorite ties in a pocket when you bundle up your togs for us to clean and press for you—or ask Friend Wife to do it—we want to show you that we CAN "Make new ones out of old ones." No charge —just call Glendale

626W

No Better Work Can Be Done

—All work sent to us, whether cleaning, pressing or dyeing, is handled only by master workmen—those who know from years of experience, just how to handle each garment, from the heaviest pieces to the daintiest fabrics. Silks, woolens, cottons or mixed pieces are all treated by the process best adapted to bring out all their original beauty and yet not harm the material. YOU may know the perfect satisfaction that your neighbors enjoy by bringing your garments here. They come home to you fresh and clean and spotless—perfectly pressed and odorless. Come in this week—and don't forget to bring the TWO ties.

IDEAL HIGH SCHOOL IS DESCRIBED BY GEORGE JORDAN

Member of Student Body Says Right Kind of Spirit in Institution Necessary

By GEORGE JORDAN
Of High School Student Body

Every one, of a necessity, has some standard for an ideal high school. There is a certain vision he sees when he thinks of "high school."

In some cases this vision reveals a tall, tower-like, New England, brick building. Others would feature a low, spread-out, California type of white stucco architecture. Personally, veneration about a school appeals to me. I like to feel that it has a past, that others have gone before and will follow after. I like to dig into the history of the institution and find out about its heroes.

Vines, clinging to the walls of the place, add to the venerable atmosphere. The walls may be dark red brick or white stone (not stucco), but vines there must be; maybe it's because they have taken years to cover the building, thus impressing one with the fact that the edifice must naturally be old.

School Meets Conditions

A large, shady, green expanse of campus supplies a foreground for the distant view of the school that cannot be left out. Under the cool trees a few students stroll along a walk, enjoying the quiet breeze. Others are lolling on the grass, chatting, laughing or reading; truly, a great picture! So there must be a lawn, well-kept and with plenty of trees. Thus far Glendale Union High school meets the conditions.

Yet one more thing there must be—and that of major importance. It must not be lacking, this thing which is necessary to make the first two count for anything. Without it they are like the scenes on a stage, worthless without the show. Two boys, arm in arm, walking across this picture represent that THING. A couple of girls coming to join one of the groups under the trees are a part of it. Another and still better example is that of a young man coming down the steps. He is hailed by another. Many invitations to enter into a discussion are given him, but he only smiles, maybe answers some of them, but does not stop. He is a fellow who has made his mark among the students. One who has fulfilled their conditions and met their requirements for prominence. He will be long remembered and his name will be written in the pages of the school history. All this must be in a school to make the "scene" of any account. It is the ideals of the school, the reputation or the spirit if you choose to call it that.

Right School Spirit

A school without the right spirit has taken a big step toward failure. Though the spirit varies, according to the school, the essentials are everywhere the same. They come under two classifications; they rest on two pillars. They are, Patriotism (or Loyalty) and Ambition.

When a student has the best kind of patriotic feeling toward his school he will do nothing that would in any way injure its name. Honesty and clean dealing will guide him in everything he does. No institution or person can say that he ever played "dirty" in a game or cheated in any kind of contest or activity. He will not make a practice of copying his lesson or cheating (himself) in an examination. For he knows that it is hurting the school more than anyone else. A reputation for turning out sneaks can seldom be lived down by a school, unless by a thorough and unpleasant self-scourging that lasts many years.

Combination Necessary

Courtesy will also follow if a person is truly conscientious in his patriotism. He will not only be "within the law," but absolutely open-and-above-board in everything he does, never taking advantage of another, a weaker opponent. Few schools care to send their representatives to a "rough-neck" institution.

The second pillar—Ambition—stands side by side with loyalty. It is this that gives a school its reputation for the good quality of the work done. Ambition makes a young person live with zest and energy, not carelessly. For, what we now are, we will be in ten or twenty years from now. Of course, our little habits may change some and OCCASIONALLY our ideals, but in the majority of cases, our characteristics will be just exactly the same!

This combination of Ambition and Loyalty is necessary to any school. If it has these two, the minor qualities will take care of themselves. These two explain our baseball, football, debating and tennis teams, and our oratorical contests. There have to be outside activities to give expression to these elements of school spirit.

Any school that offers a varied program of activities is striving in the right direction and any school whose students go in for, and get the full measure of benefit from that program, has succeeded. Can Glendale High answer "yes" to both of these questions? I believe it can.

BUSINESS IN JAPAN IS BAD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Buyers' strikes have plunged Japan into business stagnation that daily is becoming more serious. This was stated in a report to the commerce department from Special Agent Eldrege at Tokio. Dealers still are exacting high prices and the people refuse to buy except on a hand-to-mouth basis.

GIVES REASONS WHY EDUCATION WEEK IS BEING HELD

local schools are accomplishing.

Hardly one person in a hundred, here in Glendale, knows what courses are being taught, by what methods, under what conditions, with what aims and results. Still less does the average man know or care about education in Texas, Tennessee of Georgia. Why should he? Because, in the long run, no democracy is stronger than its weakest part, as no chain is stronger than its weakest link. Not the schools of our town, our country, our state, but the schools of our nation should be a matter of concern to every public-spirited citizen.

Trained in Other States

Besides, no state can be isolated in superiority of educational standards and achievements. In Glendale at the present moment, there are more children who have had their early training in Texas, Georgia, Mississippi, Oklahoma and other states than there are who began school in California. The standard of achievement in California schools cannot rise much superior to that in other states which are pouring the products of their schools into ours; as water in forty-eight connected vessels, flowing freely from one to the other, tends to stand at the same level in all.

In recognition of such facts as these, American Education Week was instituted in the manner and for the purposes shown in the following statement of the United States Commissioner of Education:

"The National Education Association, conjointly with the American legion, have requested that the week of December 4 to 10 be designated as "American Education Week" and that it be observed in all the states of the union. The purpose of this week is to inform the public of the accomplishments and the needs of the public schools and to secure the co-operation and support of the public in meeting these needs.

At no time in American history has it been so necessary as now that the people be informed as to what the public schools are accomplishing and have accomplished for American education, and what they now need to make them most effective. It is a task in which all American educators can join, and I bespeak their hearty co-operation in making American Education Week a success."

GREAT PARADE FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN THIS AFTERNOON

donated the majority of cars while clubs, real estate dealers and automobile dealers have not been ungenerous.

The parade will assemble at Glendale and Cerritos avenues where the children will be taken from the three school grounds previously.

Trustees In Parade

The lead probably will be taken by a machine containing the grammar school board of trustees. These are J. D. Hibben, 123 East Laurel street; David Black, 1450 Kenneth road; Dr. P. O. Lucas, 358 West Riverdale drive; Mrs. A. A. Barton, 630 North Howard street, and Mrs. Arthur Brown, 201 West Milford avenue. This car likely will also contain Richardson D. White, superintendent of grammar schools.

Cerritos school children will be followed by those from the Intermediate school.

As a vanguard for the high school section of the parade it is expected that the members of high school board of trustees will occupy a machine to themselves. These are: Dr. Harry V. Brown, 144 North Orange street; Dan Campbell, North Glendale; Thomas D. Watson, 526 North Central avenue; Mrs. John Robert White, 347 North Orange street; Mrs. Blanche A. Gardiner, and H. W. Yarick, 347 West Wilson avenue.

Faculty members from all three schools will participate in the parade in various machines.

Line of March

The line of march is as follows: Cerritos to Brand, north on Brand to Broadway, east on Broadway to Glendale, north on Glendale to Wilson, west on Wilson to Jackson, north on Jackson to Doran, west on Doran to Brand, north on Brand to Burchett, west on Burchett to Central, south on Central to Cypress, east on Cypress to Glendale; Cerritos avenue school south on Glendale, and other schools north on Glendale to disband.

IDA M. WAITE GIVES HISTORY OF CITY SCHOOLS IN GLENDALE

Principal of Colorado School Tells of Formation of District, Bond Issues and Steady Growth

In connection with American Education Week, which is being liberally observed in Glendale, Ida M. Waite, principal of the Colorado Boulevard school, has prepared a history of the Glendale city schools. She tells of the organization of the district; gives early history; tells of bond issues, and, in brief, writes interestingly of school history. Her story:

By IDA M. WAITE
Principal Colorado Boulevard School

THE PRESENT TERRITORY known as the Glendale School District originally was part of a district extending to the Arroyo Seco, Pasadena and the Sierra Madres, taking in La Canada and La Crescenta. The western section extended to San Fernando and the southern limit was Los Angeles, a spacious territory, but sparsely settled.

This district was organized and called the Sepulveda School District, June 3, 1879. The four schools in this district were the Sepulveda, Riverdale, Canon and La Canada. Miss Helen M. Haskell was the teacher of Canon school, George D. Howland, principal of the Riverdale school and Miss Fannie Quesnel (Mrs. William Byran of prominence in Los Angeles juvenile court work), was primary teacher in the same school during 1884. Trustees at the time were H. J. Crow, George Englehardt and J. F. Dunsmuir.

During the early history of the Sepulveda district, W. C. B. Richardson donated a tract of land to the grounds, on which the Cerritos school now stands. The grounds were enlarged in 1920 by the purchase of a triangular piece of land from the heirs of the donor and a smaller piece on Cerritos avenue and Brand boulevard from the Pacific Electric Railway company. In 1890 W. R. Chandler was elected principal of the Sepulveda district as well as principal of one of the schools. Miss Luella Marden (Mrs. Luella M. Bullis) was elected primary teacher at this time in the school that stood on the site where the Cerritos school now stands. Miss Clark was principal of the Verdugo school.

The old three-room building, on the Tropico grounds, was sold January 12, 1906, to make room for the present building. The present building which cost $12,000 was opened September 16, 1906, and William Malcom was the first principal.

Two buildings were added to the Tropico district in 1916. The Acacia street school, of which Miss May Cornwell is principal, and the Magnolia avenue school, of which Miss Emma Saxton is principal, were the two schools.

Tropico District Unites

The Tropico district united with the Glendale city school district in March, 1918. The last Tropico district principal was Dickerson. The first principal after consolidation was E. Harwood. Mrs. Curtiss is the present principal. The Tropico school board at the time of joining Glendale consisted of Mrs. Luella M. Bullis, D. J. Hibben and C. R. Carmack. The Glendale board at the same time was represented by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, A. B. Heacock and John Todd. The board, after consolidation, consisted of Mrs. Charles Toll, D. J. Hibben and John Todd.

The Riverside school was known as the West Glendale school and was first held in P. H. Bullis' home with W. R. Chandler as teacher; later it was held in an upper room of what is now known as the Glendale Winery and last in Waddingtons' shack in the wash. In 1891 the West Glendale children were divided between Tropico and Glendale on account of insufficient school housing capacity.

After West Glendale district was organized in 1892, a school was built on the present site of the Columbus avenue school, which was built in 1907. The principals of the first school were in the order named: W. R. Chandler, Miss Bayright (Mrs. James Dunsmuir), Miss Abbie Pratt, Mrs. Mary O. Ryan and Mrs. Cora Taylor. Mrs. Taylor was principal of the new building until the spring of 1919, when she was granted a leave of absence and Miss Lorraine Mitchell took her place and is principal of the Columbus avenue school at the present time. Mrs. Ryan went from the West Glendale to the Broadway school in September, 1905.

District Is Divided

May 9, 1892, the Sepulveda district was divided into Sepulveda, Glendale and West Glendale districts. The name Sepulveda was changed to Tropico on April 1, 1893. The board of trustees at this time were H. H. Jarvis, I. M. Clippinger, Robert Divine. The first board of trustees of the Clendale district were E. T. Byram, G. B. Woodbury and J. C. Sherer. As a result of the first election June 7, 1872, the following people were elected: Mrs. Ella T. Chase (mother of Dr. Raymond Chase), E. H. Hollenbeck and G. B. Woodbury. The first principal was E. L. French. He was a man of marked ability and culture.

Prior to 1892 a small schoolhouse was located in Verdugo Canyon, but was moved to Verdugo Road and Fourth street (Broadway). The teacher was Ellsworth Coleman, who is now principal of a school in Oakland.

In 1887 a bond issue of $3500 was voted, $500 being for two lots and $3000 for building purposes. These lots are part of the Broadway site at the present time. The grounds being insufficient, the people took up a subscription and purchased two more lots for the district. March 10, 1894, a sum of $800 was voted for the purpose of adding an acre of land to the above and fencing the grounds. The building originally consisted of two rooms separated by slats, but this was changed and a roll partition used for the division. On June 19, 1900, bonds were voted to the amount of $600 for an addition to the building. In 1904, this building being inadequate, as double sessions were resorted to, a bond issue was voted, May 11, amounting to $1000. The three-room building was sold in 1905 and moved to the northwest corner of Broadway and Glendale avenue, where it now stands.

Pressed for Room

The eight-room building erected in 1904 is the one lately removed to give place to the beautiful new Broadway school, of which Mrs. Mary O. Ryan is principal.

In 1908 the school rooms again became crowded and a bond issue was voted, May 23, for $15,000. Lots 11, 12, 13 and 14, in Lomita park, were purchased, and a five-room building erected. The building now known as the Colorado Boulevard school opened January 4, 1909, with Miss Ida M. Waite as principal.

Three years later conditions made it necessary to have more room, so it was thought best to house the seventh and eighth grades in the same building. A bond issue of $4000 was voted July, 1911, for the purpose of purchasing a site and building the Intermediate school. At this time, July 24, 1911, the first supervising principal was elected, J. F. Anderson being the man selected. Temporary quarters were erected to take care of the seventh and eighth grades until the Intermediate was ready to be occupied. The Intermediate was opened May, 1912.

Another bond issue was voted March, 1912, to the amount of $35,000 for the purpose of buying lots and building a schoolhouse in the Casa Verdugo district. The building was erected and opened September, 1913. This school is known as the Central avenue school and Miss Annie L. McIntyre is the principal.

In 1915 more bonds were voted and two schools were added to the Pacific avenue school, of which Mrs. Fannie O. Stone is principal, and the other is the Doran street school, of which Miss Lois Hatch is principal.

The West Glendale and Glendale schools consolidated in December, 1911, and the first board of trustees, appointed by Superintendent Mark Keppel, were F. S. Balthis, R. A. Blackburn and J. O. Elliot. Their first meeting was held December 26, 1911.

The first board of trustees elected after consolidation were Richardson Sternberg, A. B. Heacock and C. F. Westlake. September, 1912, the new supervising principal, Alton M. Brooks, took charge of affairs. Richardson D. White became supervising principal in 1913 and later was made superintendent.

The Board of Trustees, before the municipal election of June 28, 1921, consisted of Mrs. Arthur Brown, D. J. Hibben and David Black. After the election the present board took charge of the Glendale schools and are Mrs. A. A. Barton, Dr. P. O. Lucas, Mrs. Arthur Brown, D. J. Hibben and David Black.

In September, 1921, another bond issue was voted and bonds will be sold for additional buildings to relieve the present crowded condition of the schools. A short table of figures will give a clearer idea as to the enormous growth of Glendale's schools since 1915:

Total enrollment Nov., 1915....1376
Total enrollment Nov., 1917....1446
Total enrollment Nov., 1919....2012
Total enrollment Nov., 1921....3176

The steady and permanent growth of the school facilities has been matched by its growth of efficiency. The Glendale schools have a state, if not a national reputation. With their superior superintendent, Richardson D. White, and their very powerful teaching force, they stand for all that is progressive.

TEACHERS' CLUB AID TO BOTH SCHOOLS AND PROFESSION

Local Organization Formed in 1919 and Has Assisted in Bettering Standards

The following article on the Glendale City Teachers' club was prepared in connection with American Education week and contributed to The Glendale Evening News. The club has been organized since May, 1919, and is affiliated with the state and national associations.

The Glendale City Teachers' club was organized in May, 1919.

Miss Clara Midcalf was elected its first president and served successfully and untiringly for two years.

The aims of the organization have been to advance the interests of the schools, to raise the standard of the teaching profession, to cultivate a spirit of sympathy and good will among teachers and to create in the community at large a deeper sense of the dignity of the teachers' profession and the importance of the interests it represents.

In the fall of 1919 the club offered to the citizens of Glendale an extension course from the University of California, many excellent programs being given.

Entertainment Provided

At various times prominent speakers have addressed the club, encouraging a live enthusiasm toward professional advancement. In lighter vein "The Deestrick Skule" may still be lingering in the minds of many. There were three performances of this; the money from the first two went to defray the expenses of sending the delegate to the National Education association and the receipts from the third, which amounted to $335 were sent to the Colorado flood sufferers.

This club is affiliated with the California Teachers' association, Southern section, and with the National Education association. It has two members on the Council of Education of the California Teachers' association, Southern section, R. D. White and Miss Gladys Sharpe.

Miss Clara Midcalf represented the club at the National Education association in 1920 at Salt Lake City, and R. D. White in 1921 at Des Moines, Iowa.

The present officers elected in May, 1921, are as follows:

Miss Carrie M. Noble, president.
Mrs. Mary O. Ryan, first vice president.
Miss Lorraine Mitchell, second vice president.
Miss Margaret Ball, recording secretary.
Miss Ida Corey, corresponding secretary.
Miss Emma Saxton, treasurer.

Theosophical Lecture to Be Given Tonight

For those interested in the Theosophical movement there will be a lecture tonight at the I. O. O. F. hall, Central building, by A. R. Adsit at 8 o'clock. This is the fourth of a series and facts tending to establish the theory of reincarnation will be set forth by Mr. Adsit. The lectures are free.

Milo Wheat

If you want something good to eat
Just try a meal of Milo Wheat;
You need not worry, the expense
To you will not exceed 3 cents.
Take notice what I'm telling you;
This includes Milk and Sugar, too;
'Twill satisfy, so you'll not feel
The least bit hungry 'til next meal.

Again, if This Food you should use
'Twill help to drive away the blues,
If one good meal you eat each day,
The cause of blues will pass away,
You will not go 'round looking sad
Because your indigestion's bad,
For stomach trouble will all go
When Milo Wheat you learn to know.

Monte Vista Home Is Closed for Repairing

Mrs. R. W. Meeker of 1320 East Colorado street, chairman of the committee of Glendale women for the Monte Vista Home for undernourished children of Los Angeles county, states that she has been having numerous inquiries lately regarding rumors to the effect that that home has been closed. Mrs. Meeker states that this home has just been closed temporarily in order to complete the basement and install a furnace to properly heat the building. She also states that when the home was opened it was intended merely for a vacation home, but the demands have been so great that the Los Angeles County Council of Community Service found it advisable to make it a year-'round home.

It was not believed safe to heat the building with open grates on account of the small children, and for that reason the home has been shut down temporarily until a furnace is installed, and the children have been placed in private homes temporarily until the Monte Vista Home is reopened.

A one-million volt electrical current has been transmitted over a wire, a triumph ending thirty years' experimenting by the General Electric company.

It's Not Easy to Be Religious, Says Dr. Funk, in Sermon

"What is your religion worth?" inquired Dr. H. C. Funk of the Lutheran church yesterday evening at Vesper Service.

"People do not, as they once did, take it for granted that the normal life of a man or woman is a religious one," declared Dr. Funk. "There are many young people in every community who not only do not belong to any church, but who never brighten the church doors with their presence. By their own admission they never pray, regarding it as a waste of time, and they look upon the whole subject of religion as a senseless bit of mummery. They keep out of trouble, seem prosperous and claim to be happy. Then why be religious?

"It is not an easy thing to be religious. Those who resist the alluring temptations deserve great credit for persevering in the straight and narrow way, loyal to Christ and His church.

"The religion that we profess is being put to the practical test, but the true test is to be discovered in the answer to the question: 'What is your religion worth in the hour of some great grief or in the days of adversity?'"

In Glendale's Vicinity

They Use Every Minute
Real estate business in Burbank is so prosperous that the dealers in homes and dirt there can spare only limited time to their realty board meetings. They dine at the Elizabeth hotel Monday noons while an alarm clock ticks off the minutes. W. A. Thompson, president of the board, has the bell ring at 1:30 p. m. and the round is over until the next week.

Great interest is shown in the coming Glendale Union High school bond and site election by the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce. Of course, the people of that community are in favor of the Broadway and Verdugo road site. C. W. Young, former member of the high school board; Mrs. A. G. Reilly and H. G. Warren were named as a committee to get out the vote in that section of the district.

Truck Crashes Into Building
When an itinerant circus truck crashed into the O. C. Lane building at Burbank last week, guests at the Elizabeth hotel thought that the wind had blown a building over or an earthquake had registered a knockout. It was in the wee hours of morning, and when Mariano Escalante, leader of the Mexican band, awoke in the middle of the street, he stated a touring car had hit the hub of the left front wheel on his truck, swerving the machine from the road. No one was injured, but a whole circus was found on the sidewalk.

City-Making Program
Co-operation of the Twentieth Century club and Chamber of Commerce at Eagle Rock has been obtained by Mrs. C. W. Young who offered the following as a program for making that city known as one of Los Angeles' most beautiful suburbs: First, to erect a waiting and comfort station in the center of the city to afford accommodations for those wishing to go to Los Angeles or Glendale; second, to have a town bulletin board instead of unsightly bills and notices posted all over; third, for all organizations to get behind the Dahlia Day celebration which, in time, will take its place with the Rose Tournament at Pasadena, it is hoped; and fourth, to beautify the parkways in a manner befitting southern California.

Real Estate Is Shifted
La Crescenta boasts of being the storm center for the last few days with record winds, but little damage other than a profusion of dust. From Tujunga to La Canada thousands of tons of dirt was shifted by the winds and were this section desert land the shifting sands would have engulfed the wayfarer.

TELLS IF LOVE IS TRUE

LONDON, Dec. 5.—A psycho-galvanic instrument has just been invented by a scientist connected with the Maudsley hospital for testing true love. Demonstrations show that the instrument will register such emotions as fear, happiness and affection and will reveal if love is real or only feigned.

Better Loyalty to Old Gospel Great Need, Says Pastor

"I am in favor of all efforts to improve society and promote social justice and better working conditions, but in the highest and best sense only regenerated men can make a regenerated society," declared Rev. C. M. Crist in his morning sermon yesterday at the First Methodist church. The text was: "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."

"As a matter of fact," said Rev. Crist, "only a regenerated man can truly observe the golden rule. The new birth changes our natures. It is to be obtained not by money but by faith.

"We hear a great deal now-a-days about the need of a new gospel. But it is not a new gospel at all that is needed, but a newer and better loyalty to the old gospel of the new birth. There is a tendency today to get into the kingdom some other way. But it cannot be accomplished. No amount of suffering or discipline, no effort at character-forming, no degrees of culture and education can supplant the second birth. We must be born into the kingdom of God."

Special Music for Sunday Services at Pacific Ave. Church

Special music in the form of a duet by Miss Helen Poole, formerly of Chicago, and Mayor Spencer Robinson, who sang for several years at the First Methodist church of Los Angeles, accompanied yesterday morning by Mrs. Spencer Robinson, was a feature at the services of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church.

"Recently we have talked a great deal about the Disarmament Conference," stated Rev. Harley G. Preston, "but what about our attitude toward God? Are any of us in rebellion against His will being done in our lives? Have we disarmed ourselves of all malice, envy, selfishness toward our fellow men?

"We should know our actions. There are many people in this world as selfish and as jealous as the devil. They are looking out for themselves and no one else. They can't understand why the Lord didn't stop creating human beings when they made their appearance into the world. Swelled heads and shrunken hearts!

"Only the spirit of God can show a man his sins. Billy Sunday can't do it; the mightiest preachers of our day cannot do it alone."

They're Doing This in California Now

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 5.—"The immediate need in educational circles today is to purge the United States of the accusation—the condemnation that we are a nation of 'sixth-graders,'" declares Dr. Abram Simons, eminent rabbi and widely known educator.

"Unfortunately a large portion of the children that attend school are compelled to abandon their studies after they reach the sixth grade," said Simons. "This is due primarily to the fact that adverse financial circumstances in the family make such a step inevitable."

Asked what remedy he would suggest, Simons said:

"A system should be inaugurated in the public schools of the country whereby the boy whose financial aid is required in the home can attend his school classes for the theoretical instruction, and then, as part of the school work, be given actual practice in the work which he is studying.

"This work," Simons continued, "should be actual in its scope, for which the boy should receive remuneration. In this manner the boy would be doing his bit for the household and at the same time be enabled to continue his studies in school without interruption."

JUBILEE RECEPTION HELD BY MEMBERS OF W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Eva Waller's Home Scene of Large Gathering; Hear Reports of Committees

The members of the Glendale W. C. T. U. held a jubilee reception Friday afternoon, December 2, 1921, at the home of Mrs. Eva Waller, 343 West Broadway, with Mrs. Ruby Smart, local president, in the chair. She spoke of the signing of the supplementary prohibition bill and also the maternity bill, which has passed the House. Mrs. Smart also expressed the pleasure of the chapter in the fact that the county president, Mrs. Marie Yeoman of Glendale, had been so far restored to health as to be able to be present at the meeting and lead in the devotionals.

Mrs. Yeoman read the last of the twenty-fifth chapter of Matthew, and said the 34th verse was a text not only for the individual but also for the organization. In her reading from Matthew Mrs. Yeoman especially called attention to the words "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these you have done it unto me."

Reports from Committees

Reports were then heard from the various committees, as follows: Mrs. Edith Glassey stated that the poor families that had been reported at the previous meeting had been supplied with clothing. Mrs. Nannie Palmer reported a fine donation for the W. C. T. U. Southern California Old Ladies' home. Mrs. Smart read a letter asking for co-operation in the "American Education Week." She stated that the W. C. T. U. had always stood for the school and was really a post-graduate course in its many departments. A motion was carried that the program for American Education be endorsed and that the union desires to add the teaching of the "book of books" to the course of instruction in the schools, as the Bible is the foundation of all education. The treasurer, Mrs. R. W. Mottern reported thirty-two new active members and sixteen jubilee members. These were presented to the county president, who congratulated the union on its splendid showing.

Catching the Vision

Mrs. Yeoman stated in her address that it takes the best women to catch the vision, and the W. C. T. U. with its forty different departments of work is doing the best work of any organization, besides being the largest organization of women in the world. It is expected to have 1,000,000 members by 1924, she stated. Mrs. Yeoman also spoke of the raising of the $1,000,000 and said that at first it seemed an almost impossible task, but with all working together it was easily accomplished, and that so would the membership be secured by the "everyone get one" policy. Continuing, Mrs. Yeoman stated that she thought of the W. C. T. U. as a sign at the cross roads to help point the right way to the young people.

"There are so many wrong roads that they can follow and so few to point the right road. It is not enough in these times that we are known as good housekeepers. Dishes can wait. But the feet of the youth must be kept in the right road," she said.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Smart asked that each one present bring a new member to the next meeting, which will be held December 16, at the home of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, 212 South Orange street. Refreshments were then served by the hostess.

Ohio Shelters Many Non-Resident Insane

COLUMBUS, Dec. 5.—Proper safeguards to keep Ohio from being made the dumping ground for non-resident insane have been recommended to Governor Davis by the former state board of administration as a means of stopping the growing numbers of these persons who are being admitted to state institutions.

"The number of non-residents admitted to our hospitals during 1919 was 100 and during 1920 was 114," declares the board's report. "The total number of deportations for the two years was fifteen. The average maintenance cost per inmate for a year in our hospitals is $255. The total number of non-residents in the several institutions at any time is at least 175. These inmates cost the state $45,000 a year for maintenance and occupy facilities at the institutions representing a capital outlay of over $190,000.

"It is evident it would be good business for the state to pay the expense of transporting these non-residents to their place of residence wherever it is possible to do so and to take steps to prevent the commitment of non-residents in the first instance. Efforts should be made to secure the co-operation of the probate judges in making a more complete and thorough investigation to determine place of residence and in transporting non-residents directly from the counties before commitment to the state institutions.

"The law should be amended so as to make it mandatory for all probate judges to transport all insane non-residents and aliens to their places of residence and to authorize the expenditure of county funds for this purpose."

"absent brothers." When no response was made the scenery at the back of the stage was faintly illuminated by the appearing, one at a time, of golden-hued stars, the final constellation of sixty stars being located directly over an old country church scene, the solemn steeple containing a lighted clock dial with the hands pointing to the significant hour of eleven.

These Have Gone On

Following is a list of the names appearing on the Memorial Tablet:

John H. Regan, John W. Parker, C. B. Cunningham, H. G. Pettitt, Hans Grass, L. A. Fargo, N. H. Nolan, Wm. Herman West, C. H. Hollister, Eugene Glane, J. H. Stacy, R. A. Booth, J. T. Merrill, T. C. Mr. Priest concluded, "In vain we call upon them. Upon the tablets of memory their names shall endure forever."

Around Slogan of Lodge

Mr. Pearce's address, which was declared by many to be among the most impressive speeches ever given at a similar occasion, was centered around the slogan of the lodge, "The Faults of Our Brothers We Write Upon the Sands, Their Virtues Upon the Tablets of Love and Memory." He said:

"When a man passes from this world invariably the question of mortals is 'How much property was he worth?' while the good angel who receives him asks, 'What good deeds has he done?' The attempt and main purpose of every Elk is to keep the lodge's slogan by asking the angel's question."

In telling of the members of the B. P. O. E. who sacrificed their all for their country in the late world war Mr. Pearce stated that more than 75,000 Elks saw service in the United States army and navy.

From this subject he jumped to "Patriotism and the American Flag," laying particular stress on the position that it holds on the "altar of our lodge, the greatest strictly American order in existence."

Never Known Surrender

"That wonderful bit of cloth that has never known surrender is destined to win the world from wrong, as has been evidenced in this country's actions during the past few years. There is room for but one flag on the Elks' altar—that flag stands against the red banner of the radicals, I. W. W.'s and domineering profiteers who have endeavored to upset our government during the last few years."

Paul Carson, well known local organist, rendered several excellent pipe organ solos during the services. Lewis A. Kerwin, also of this city, accompanied the various vocalists in their presentations.

The members of the Memorial day committee, which was in charge of the day's exercises, were John H. Fanset, V. M. Hollister, L. W. Chobe and Edwin J. Albright.
